Concerning the Irises that are Growing Over-The-Garden-Wall

The joy of greeting old friends, the anticipated pleasure of making new ones—such happiness makes life worth living. We hope that the following pages will bring to our friends, both old and new, the joy of greeting their favorites among the irises, as well as pleasurable acquaintance with some new ones.

Glancing back over the past year in the iris world, one notes especially, the drop in prices; also the increasing number of hybridizers and of their introductions; further, the growing interest in the various iris species. Looking over our list, our customers will find that we have priced our irises as low as quality and quantity will permit; that, as in previous years, we are offering an interesting collection of the new American introductions; and that more iris species, both for the rock garden and the border, are now available.

We trust that the economies evident in the catalogue will not trouble our customers. Descriptions have been materially shortened, and many names have been omitted. (Catalogues of previous years can be sent those who wish them.)

Visitors are finding many items of interest in the rock gardens, and new stock is being added as rapidly as possible. Our endeavor is to offer such plants as are reasonably certain to grow in New England. A list of available stock will be ready later. We are always at your service for consultation, and shall be glad to help with construction work.

Since the peonies bloom with the June irises, we have added a collection of about two hundred and fifty of these, both the older standard varieties and many of the finest new ones, in doubles, singles, and Japanese. We expect some flowers this season; lists will be ready soon, and we will take orders, to be filled by nurseries, more experienced in handling these plants than we are, at present.

For your convenience the catalogue is divided into several sections:—

Latest American introductions—names in heavy type.

except Early-blooming Dwarfs and Intermediates

Novelties that were added to our collection last year, have their names in heavy type. All ratings have been omitted. In parenthesis will be found the name of the originator and year of introduction; various initials after descriptions, indicate awards. Irises priced at 50c and less, will be found on pages 13, 14, 15, 16.

We hope to have in bloom, the new white iris, found by Mr. Chase last spring, and not identified; perhaps I. prismatica alba.

In addition to the above-listed irises from Louisiana, we shall be glad to obtain any of the others that are in commerce, if customers are interested.

BULBOUS IRISES

Dutch, Spanish and English. We have a planting of about 2000 of these, in named varieties, that have wintered splendidly, under a peat-moss mulch. We shall be very glad to have our friends see what can be done with these irises, here in New England. Prices are about 75c a dozen.

I. bucharica .	From Bokhara. A delightfully "different" iris in soft yellow. The stalk looks like a miniature corn stalk, the blooms appearing at the base of each leaf. Blooms in late April.	Per bulb	$1.50
I. reticulata .	Rich amethyst-purple, with brilliant gold patch. The earliest to bloom—comes with the crocuses. Hardy and very fragrant. 6".	Per bulb	$.75

REGELIA IRISES AND THEIR ALLIES

These irises usually bloom with the early intermediates and are of great interest, if one likes "something different." They should be grown where they can be very dry during the summer.

Oriental Poppies

Those of us who, for years, have thought of Oriental poppies in terms of orange-red, find it difficult to credit our eyesight, when we discover the charming pinks and wondrous deep reds, that are now available. We have emphasized the pinks, because they are the most attractive, when planted with irises. The June garden seems incomplete without at least one of these glorious flowers. Our stock is shipped during the dormant period—late August and early September. Mulch the plants lightly the first winter.

WATTEAU.	Coral, with no blotches. Very free flowering, dainty and low.	$2.50

To Our Customers

TERMS are net, cash with order, except that we are glad to allow a 10% additional order, with each purchase of $5.00 or more. (This does not apply to the special collections, nor to those novelties where stock is limited.) A. I. S. members are entitled to an additional 5% discount on such orders.

PRICES quoted are so low, that we shall have to display "sold out" signs, in time to reserve sufficient stock for propagation. Also, with the uncertainty about inflation, prices will be subject to change without further notice.

SHIPMENTS can be made at almost any time, but we prefer to ship the bearded irises during the summer and early fall. Please add 15c for postage and packing, for orders of less than $3.00.

GUARANTEE—We make every effort to keep our stock true to name; if an error occurs, please notify us, and restitution will be made. Condition upon arrival is guaranteed, but we cannot accept any responsibility for the results of planting.

REFUNDS are made for any varieties that are sold out; we do not substitute.

SERVICE—We are glad to assist with advice about color combinations and as to irises suitable for certain locations. We urge all who can, to visit the garden during the blooming season, so as to select their own colors. During the few weeks of bloom, the garden is open Sundays, to accommodate those who cannot come during the week. The garden is situated just north of West Hartford center.
